Narrated in the first person, Holden's voice is informal, colloquial, and often sarcastic, giving readers an intimate glimpse into his troubled mind. The novel begins with Holden's departure from Pencey and his subsequent wandering around New York City over a few days before he returns home. Throughout the story, Holden grapples with feelings of loneliness, disillusionment, and a desire to protect innocence—particularly that of children. His interactions with various characters, from nuns and nannies to former classmates and a young girl named Phoebe, reveal his complex personality and internal conflicts. The narrative is punctuated by Holden's reflections on his deceased brother, Allie, whose death profoundly influences his worldview. The climax of the novel occurs when Holden sneaks into his sister Phoebe's room and confesses his desire to become "the catcher in the rye," a protector of children from falling into the corrupting influence of adulthood. The story concludes with Holden's decision to seek help and his acknowledgment of the importance of connection and recovery.

Major Themes

Alienation and Isolation
